TRUSTEES' MEETING

CITY ATTORNEY REQUESTED TO PREPARE AN ORDINANCE FOR FREEHOLDERS ELECTION

The board assembled at 8:35 p. m., October 7. There were present Trustees Bartlett, Henry, Robinson, Shaw. Trustee Stephenson was absent.

The minutes of the regular meeting of September 30 were read and a correction ordered to be made to the effect that other bids being called for the pipe line franchise, no others were offered, etc.

The hearing of protests against the improvement of Sycamore Canyon Road as provided for in Resolution No. 1124 was taken up at this time. In this connection two petitions of protestants were presented, one signed principally by property owners in the proposed assessment district outside of the frontage, numbering 269; the other signed by protesting property owners principally along the frontage of the proposed street, being signed by forty-six persons. Among the protestants present who addressed the board were Dr. Harrower, Mrs. Rohde, C. Smith and J. C. Sherer. On motion of Trustee Henry the hearing was continued for one week, until the next regular meeting and the petitions referred to the city engineer to check up and report.

The chairman announced that any one desiring to be heard in regard to the improvement of Commercial street would now be given an opportunity to express themselves. No one responded to this invitation and the matter went over.

F. H. Vesper, representing the Greater Glendale Development Association and the Chamber of Commerce, addressed the board, stating that a committee composed of members of these two organizations had been formed and had undertaken the responsibility of securing persons willing to serve as members of the board of freeholders and of seeing that their petitions were filed, requesting therefore that the board call an election for the purpose of electing a board of fifteen free-holders to frame a charter for the city. In response to this request the city attorney was instructed to prepare an ordinance covering the matter.

A communication was read from the State Board of Health requesting that the city be represented at the Chico convention of the League of California Municipalities, November 8 to 11, next. This was referred to the committee of the whole.

A communication was read from Mrs. Eleanor R. Blackburn presenting her resignation as assistant director of the Welfare Bureau on account of absence from the city. On motion of Trustee Henry the resignation was accepted and on the recommendation of the city manager, Mrs. L. W. Sinclair was appointed to succeed Mrs. Blackburn.

An application to sell milk was presented from C. W. Wilson representing the Bruce Dairy of Burbank

DR. A. C. DIXON

SPEAKER AT BIBLE CONFERENCE IN PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH NEXT WEEK

By Rev. W. E. Edmonds

It is of interest to know that Dr. A. C. Dixon, who will speak at the Bible Conference every afternoon and evening of next week at the Presbyterian church, is a man of world reputation. He is counted the greatest preacher since the days of Spurgeon. During the late war, Dr. Dixon was in the Metropolitan Tabernacle in London and morning, noon and night, twenty-four hours out of each day. The buildiing was open for refuge when the German air raids would come. A stairway opening from the street into the basement made a quick retreat from the outside and as the frantic, terrified people rushed down into the great basement of the Tabernacle, until every inch of space was full, Dr. Dixon would have some grand old hymn of the church started and as they became hushed and calmed, he gave them the wonderful message of the gospel and led thousands and thousands of souls to the foot of the Cross in those awful days and nights of blood and warfare. His story is thrilling, his messages are straight from the shoulder and true to the old gospel, his Bible studies full of interest. We can count it a blessing and a privilege to command the services of such a man of God. The meetings are open to the public afternoon and evening.

NEW SEWAGE PLAN

BURBANK ASKS GLENDALE TO JOIN HER IN INSTALLING SEWAGE OUTLET

The City Trustees of Burbank have called the attention of the city officials of Glendale to the fact that they are considering installing a sewage farm on county land west of Burbank, by which means they will take care of the sewage of their own city. Glendale has been asked to join Burbank in the disposal of sewage for both cities. The question was presented to the Board last evening by City Manager Watson. After some discussion, on motion it was referred to Engineer Olmstead to make investigation and report to the Board of Trustees as to the advisability of considering this sewage outlet question in conjunction with Burbank.

McBrydes Home

Attorney James F. McBryde and wife returned last evening from a delightful trip through the eastern states. Mr. McBryde went to Cleveland to attend the National American Legion Convention as a delegate from the Ninth Congressional district. A cordial greeting was extended to the visitors and their wives in that city. After the close of the convention a number of the delegates went on to New York City for a short visit. The McBrydes visited Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Combs on Long Island. Mrs. Combs was formerly Miss Gertrude Jordon and visited her aunt, Miss Gertrude Forrest, of this city, over four years ago. Nothing can begin to compare with California is the popular opinion of the California delegates.

Sugar Away Down

It will be seen by Evening News ads that sugar is offered by Glendale grocers for 13 cents a pound. This is a drop of more than 100 per cent from the high mark of the summer when a price of 27½ cents prevailed at some stores for a few days. It is a matter for rejoicing that the sugar profiteers who held prices up to such high figures during the greater part of the canning season, stand to lose many millions, though unfortunately, not as many as they made by gouging the people. They even importuned the United States government to intervene when they saw that a price drop was inevitable, and keep the prices up, but were sternly rebuffed. During all this time the Glendale retailers, as well as most of those in other cities, refused to take advantage of the people's necessities but sold sugar on the narrowest possible margin and frequently at a loss during the downward trend.

New City Directory

The Evening News is getting out a new directory for the city of Glendale and wishes to make it complete and reliable, and to this end the hearty co-operation of every citizen is requested, that the book may be a credit to the city and a guide to the stranger within our gates. Work began this morning on the street canvass to secure the names of residents and the Evening News is sure that its representatives in this work will meet with every courtesy and be afforded every facility for the swift furtherance of his task, as in getting out a directory the utmost haste is necessary, contingent of course on thorough work, because of the many changes of residence occurring daily.

CERRITOS AVE. P.-T.A.

WELL-ATTENDED MEETING YESTERDAY, PROPOSED AMENDMENTS EXPLAINED

The P.-T. A. of the Cerritos Ave. school held its first regular meeting yesterday afternoon at the school building. An unusually large number of parents and friends were present. Coffee and cake were served in the library and a delightful social hour was enjoyed.

The meeting was called to order at three o'clock. Mrs. Opal Greenwalt gave the talk of the afternoon, which was very interesting and instructive. Her subject was "Legislative Measures of the Coming Election." She explained, first, how a bill becomes a law and then dwelt at some length on each of the twenty amendments, which are to appear on the ballot at the November election. A discussion of the questions by members of association followed.

It was decided to raise the membership dues this year to 35 cents; 25 cents was the former figure.

Finland and Russia are preparing to sign an armistice next week on terms agreed on October 1.

There is still sporadic fighting between General Wrangle's forces in South Russia and the Bolsheviks.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 8.—O. Hudson, attorney for Joseph Rodriguez, who last night confessed having committed the Denton murder in Los Angeles, today said Rodriguez had admitted the alleged confession was a "lie," and a mere attempt to gain notoriety.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 8.—The district attorney's office here today declared Gus Carillo, alias Joseph Rodriguez, held in San Francisco was a lurid faker, since the records here showed he was in jail here from May 11 to September 8.

Meanwhile, authorities here were preparing for a coroner's inquest which will be held here tomorrow. Mrs. Richard C. Peete was still at liberty today. The habeas corpus action begun for her release from alleged illegal custody was dropped yesterday when her attorney failed to appear in court.

WALNUT GROWERS ASSOCIATION ANNOUNCES REDUCTION IN EFFORT TO REACH PRE-WAR BASIS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

FIVE DEAD IN EXPLOSION

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

SYCAMORE OPENING

PROPERTY OWNERS PROTEST ASSESSMENTS FOR STREET IMPROVEMENTS

One of the important questions before the Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale at last evening's meeting was the hearing of protests on the opening and improving of Sycamore Canyon Road. There was one protest signed by 269 property owners who have been assessed and whose property is not adjoining the proposed new road, another protest was signed by 46 whose property comprises frontage on the proposed road.

Those speaking in favor of the protest were Dr. Henry R. Harrower, J. C. Sherer, Christ Smith, and others. The claim of all who spoke on the subject was that the benefits to be derived from opening and improving the street were not sufficient to justify the amount of assessments to be paid. In the discussion it came out that $24,000 had already been paid for land purchased for the right-of-way of this road, and when this purchase was made the promise was given out to the property owners that a railroad would occupy a portion of the 100 ft. of right-of-way south of Broadway, the street north of Broadway to be only 80 ft. wide. Now, since there is no provision for a railroad, a portion of the street south of Broadway is to remain unimproved.

Protestants argued that the expense of this improvement should be borne by the entire city, as the purpose of it was not to furnish a road for the people of that section of the city, but the improvement was to serve as a waterway.

At the conclusion of the discussion the Board instructed the City Engineer to check up the frontage, and the hearing would be continued at the next meeting of the Board.

Reading Club

The Needle Club met Tuesday night with Mrs. Queen Danner, 1631 Gardena avenue, who was assisted in entertaining her guests by Mrs. Alma Dutton. There were 18 present. They finished their first comfort and sewed on carpet rags preparatory to a bazaar to be held early in December. Refreshments were served.

Death of Mrs. Wells

The many Glendale friends of Mrs. Florence M. Wells regret to learn of her death, October 6, at her home, 2969 Waverly, Los Angeles. Mrs. Wells was seventy-five years of age, and had been ill only a short time. She was well known in Glendale, and an old-time friend of Rev. O. P. Rider and family, visiting here frequently. Funeral services will be conducted Saturday at The Little Church of the Flowers, at 1 o'clock p. m., Rev. Rider officiating. Interment will be in Forest Lawn Cemetery.

HOWARD RALSTON

GLENDALE HIGH SCHOOL BOY ACTOR OFF TO MARSHFIELD, OREGON, FOR WORK

Howard Ralston, the 16-year-old Glendale High School boy actor living on Verdugo Road, left last Saturday night for Marshfield, Oregon, with a company playing Peter B. Kyne's "Kindred of the Desert." He will be gone four weeks but will keep up his High School studies with a private tutor, which the law compels film companies to provide in such cases. When Howard returns he will start at once on Irving Bachelor's "The Light in the Clearing," in which he will play opposite his sister, Miss Esther Ralston, also a Glendale High student. He comes of a histrionic family, the father, mother, four sons and Miss Esther, all displaying considerable talent in that line.

Howard has a part in the picture to be shown Saturday evening, Oct. 9th, at the Palace Grand, "It's a Great Life," his school friends will be glad to know.

D. A. R. GATHERING

RICHARD GRIDLEY CHAPTER HOLDS FIRST FALL MEETING AT BRALY HOME

The Gen. Richard Gridley Chapter, D. A. R., met yesterday afternoon at the home of the Regent, Mrs. J. H. Braly, 505 North Brand. This was the first meeting of the fall season, and the Braly home was handsomely decorated for the occasion, in the national colors, white carnations, red dahlias and bachelors' buttons being used in profusion.

Mrs. J. C. Ingham of Los Angeles, the State Vice-Chairman of D. A. R. Patriotic Work, gave a talk on the work of the D. A. R. among aliens, throughout the country in general, and particularly of the work being done among Mexicans and Italians in Los Angeles. The Glendale and L. A. chapters are centering their Americanization work on the Albion Street School, in East Los Angeles. The population of this district is largely alien, and the D. A. R. is supplementing city funds for conducting a large day-nursery, night school, home teaching, and clubs. This organization furnishes free temporary homes to needy families until they get on their feet. The Glendale chapter, under the chairmanship of Miss Ida D. Myers, 1607 S. San Fernando Road, is doing an important work there.

Mrs. E. W. Hayward of 307 North Kenwood, leader of the November Red Cross activities, was assured of support from the D. A. R. in this undertaking.

Mrs. W. N. Rathburn, chairman of the committee on Maternity Hospital work, spoke of the good being done by this institution that is receiving support from the Glendale chapter, told the needs of the hospital, and urged that the D. A. R. increase their mile-of-pennies fund they have been raising for this cause. Forty dollars was added to the fund at the close of her talk.

A want-ad published in this paper saved $150 for Mrs. O. M. Carpenter, 114 East Park avenue, this week. She advertised the loss of a purse, containing the above amount in paper money; the notice was seen by the finder, Mr. Worcester, with the Albert Cohn Co., and Mrs. Carpenter now has her purse again, with its valuable contents.

A NEW ENGINE

Our great period of invention which was stimulated by the war has not come to an end. It might seem that the engine in its present form had been practically perfected, but now comes an entirely new departure which many engineers believe will revolutionize transportation.

The new invention is an oil combustion engine. We have had gasoline combustion engines and oil burning engines but never before an oil combustion engine. The new engine has passed its experimental stage. A ship equipped with the new engines has recently made a very successful trip to Cuba and return, and throughout the voyage ran smoothly.

MODERATE RADICALS

The Italian Communist movement shows real moderation—for Italy. The metal workers, having seized the plants and run them for a couple of weeks, decided to give them back to their owners. The explanation that they took the factories in the first place merely as security for their demands is upheld. Their representatives, in the settlement made with the approval of the Italian government, have agreed that the men will resume their old status of employes, and do their best to increase production, for a pay increase of 19 cents a day and for a degree of participation in factory management which is to be worked out by a commission.

These are mild terms, compared with those urged by the more radical branch of Italian Socialists, and especially compared with Bolshevist demands. They indicate that the Italian workman is really not a violent radical, but merely a pretty far-going industrial progressive. The wages agreed upon are such as an American workman would turn up his nose at. Representation in industrial management is a more important consideration, which may lead to results as yet unforeseen; but it is not unknown in this country, and indeed is probably the chief line of constructive development for industry everywhere.

If the "labor problem" is ever to be solved, it will probably be by some method whereby labor and capital get together in spirit and purpose, co-operating in the management as well as the profits of their industries. There can be no legitimate objection to such development, as long as it is not brought about by coercion. In several American industries the employers have already made concessions of this sort.

S. D. A. BUILDINGS

HALF MILLION DOLLAR SANITARIUM AND HOSPITAL PLANT ARISING

With the nurses' dormitory so near completion that it is promised to be ready for occupancy in less than two weeks, and the new hospital all enclosed and nearly ready for the exterior plaster cement coating, the great building program of the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital plant of the Seventh-day Adventists is well started. The plans call for the erection of eight buildings, including the two mentioned, and the total dismantling and removal of all the old buildings now standing. These new buildings will all be located on the block bounded by Broadway, Isabel, Jackson and Wilson avenue, and three lots across Jackson street from the new hospital, which occupies the northwest corner of the block named. On the northeast corner will be erected a large building to house the heating and electrical machinery. South of the two buildings above named will be the Sanitarium group. In the center, occupying a goodly share of the space now taken up by the present Sanitarium will be the administration U-shaped, with the opening to the north. It will be on the order of the hospital building, but two stories in height. On either side of this building and connected with it by closed corridors, will be two 2-story medical buildings connected with each other by corridors above and below. These are for the Sanitarium patients and in the administration building will be ample room for guests.

When all these buildings are completed the plant, including the grounds, will be worth more than half a million dollars. It will bring a feeling of loss to many when the old Sanitarium building is torn down. For more than 30 years it has stood there, first as a hotel before it was enlarged and then in its present capacity. It is known all over the United States and in some foreign countries wherever Seventh-day Adventists have congregations from post cards and advertising literature.

BROTHERHOOD WORK

COMMITTEE PLANS TO ENTERTAIN LADIES AND DISCUSS CURRENT ISSUES

Oct. 8, 1920.

An Executive Committee meeting of the Federated Brotherhood of Glendale was held last evening at the First Methodist church, with the president of the organization, Arthur G. Lindley, as chairman.

There was a good attendance of men from the various churches present and many matters of vital importance to the welfare of our community were discussed, and action taken where such a course seemed advisable.

Among the matters taken up at the meeting was the arrangements for the annual "Ladies' Night" banquet, which is to be held on Tuesday evening, Oct. 26th, at the Social Hall of the First Methodist church. A special speaker is to be secured and special attention will be given to the issues that are to be voted upon at the coming general election, both State and National as well as local questions in which we as a community are interested.

In addition to the principal speaker of the evening, who will address the meeting on the general issues, the City Manager of Glendale will be asked to come and present the plans that the City Trustees have decided upon with reference to how they will use the funds provided by the bond issue for the proposed "recreational center," if the bonds are voted. The Federated Brotherhood is wholeheartedly back of the movement to provide a recreational center and it is expected that this banquet will be attended by at least 400 men and women, all of whom will be voters at the coming election, and they all will be interested in this matter, as well as all of the other questions that will be discussed and explained, particularly those that pertain to the moral welfare of our people.

"A clean city, kept clean" is the motto of this organization and we realize that moral laws must be enacted and enforced in the state as well as locally if that condition is to prevail.

The disregard of the law on the part of many tobacco dealers in selling cigarettes and tobacco to boys under eighteen, and in not having a copy of this law posted conspicuously in their places of business, was also presented to the meeting and a committee was appointed to investigate this matter and to take vigorous action if it is found that this law is being violated in Glendale.

To this committee was also referred the report of other law violations in matters pertaining to the moral welfare of the community, with instructions to investigate and take such action as seems advisable.

Various committees were chosen to look after the different matters pertaining to the annual "Ladies' Night" banquet, including one committee to secure speakers and arrange program; another to get the tickets and take charge of disposing of same; a publicity committee, etc.

The meeting adjourned after having spent a very profitable and interesting evening.

S. C. FAIR

TO OPEN TUESDAY AT RIVERSIDE WITH VARIED SEVEN-DAY PROGRAM

The Southern California Fair will open in Riverside on Tuesday morning of next week and will be open for seven days, which is one day longer than any of its predecessors. The program is the most comprehensive of any of the fairs ever held on the Riverside grounds, and will this year receive the heartiest co-operation of the national government through March Field and the naval recruiting department. For the former there will be a tent hangar in which officers and men from the flying field will erect an aeroplane for the benefit of the visiting crowds and will demonstrate machine guns, aerial wireless and other features, in addition to daily flying stunts in the air above the grounds. A demonstration tent will also be opened by the naval recruiting officers.

The racing program has the largest number of entries of any meet on the coast this year. There will be six big days of racing. For one event there are twenty-one entries. The stock barns and sheds have been increased to accommodate more than double the number of animals ever exhibited at Riverside before. The industrial tent is a new feature and will be larger than the great agricultural and horticultural tent containing the community exhibits.

During the entire period of the fair there will be the Pony Blimp of the Goodyear Rubber Company stationed inside the track enclosure and carrying passengers. In front of the grand stand will be vaudeville numbers of merit, an eight-piece jazz orchestra and singers, furnished by the Pacific Electric Railway Company of Los Angeles. There will be daily concerts by the Riverside Military Band. In the evening there will be boxing contests in front of the grand stand with vaudeville and music. At Dudidoux, the fast Riverside boxer, will appear for the opening program.

The fair will be open on Sunday this year, without a racing program, but showing all of the exhibit features and with a program during the afternoon of an appropriate musicale and entertainment character.

MOTHERS' CIRCLE

HELPFUL DISCUSSIONS FEATURE MEETING AT HOME OF MRS. SHAW

The Mothers' Reading Circle held its regular meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Hartley Shaw, 212 West Park. Ten members were present, and each responded to roll call with a thought that had been found helpful, culled from the readings. The organization is entirely informal, and the ladies bring their lunch, tea being served at noon. A new name for the club was discussed, but it was decided that "Mothers' Reading Circle" was appropriate and desirable, so the same title was retained.

The reading of "Misunderstood Children" was completed, and Mrs. Theodore Birney's "Childhood" was begun. The latter brought up an interesting and practical discussion, centering around the importance of the child's play time being rightly spent; and of the problems arising from neighborhood children's group play.

A letter of thanks from Mrs. H. S. Mitchell, a member of the Circle, was read, acknowledging the beautiful gift sent her infant daughter by the organization.

RESEARCH HOSPITAL

LOS ANGELES SURGEONS ARE PLEASED WITH GLENDALE INSTITUTION

Two well-known surgeons of Los Angeles who are interested in the Glendale Research hospital were in Glendale yesterday looking over the work which has reached a point where it is easy to see how the completed building will look. These doctors visited the hospital with a view of suggesting improvements, but they had little to offer. They expressed themselves as very well pleased with every detail of the construction and arrangement.

The new hospital is situated in the highest part of Glendale, between Adams street and Verdugo Road facing Piedmont Park and overlooking the entire city. The main structure is built around three sides of a court. The administration building occupies the central part of the front section and contains on either side of the reception hall, offices, research laboratories, X-Ray rooms and so forth. The reception room leads directly into a wide hall that extends the entire length of the building, as well as through both wings. Across this hall directly opposite the front entrance are three operating rooms with physicians' dressing and locker rooms, sterilizing room, etc.

In each unit of the hospital are a linen room, diet kitchen and a bath room, although the main kitchen is in a separate building in the rear which also contains laundry, nurses' dining room, private dining room and serving room.

Each of the forty hospital rooms opens directly into the wide hallway through doors large enough to permit the bed being wheeled through. Also French doors open from each room into a vine-covered pergola permitting the beds to be wheeled out of doors.

A radical departure from the old idea of having all-white finishings and furnishings in hospital rooms is contemplated. Rooms will be tinted in various soft and restful shades with draperies and furnishings to harmonize.

The building will be practically fire-proof, being built of hollow tile with metal window casings and door jambs, but to further prevent the possibility of a fire there will be three standpipes at advantageous points.

C. W. Kent & Son, who are the architects and builders, have secured Edward H. Lemke of Altadena to superintend the construction. Mr. Lemke is not new in this kind of work, having constructed the Henry Ford hospital at Detroit, a hospital for the New York Central railroad at Indianapolis, the Schultz $1,000,000 bakery in Chicago, $4,000,000 buildings for the Fisher Body Corporation in Detroit, several large postoffice buildings and others equally as important. He has a large force of men on the job and there is every indication that the building will be ready for use by the close of the year if not before.

The Glendale Research hospital was incorporated for $100,000, by Roy L. Kent, Herman Nelson, A. L. Baird, Spencer Robinson and Dr. J. A. McNaughton. A large per cent of this stock has been sold and A. L. Baird, who has charge of this work, is confident of closing his books in the near future.

The Tarantula

"Laughable reports about the Texas tarantula have been circulated since the soldiers have been camped in the Lone Star state," writes Kate R. Menefee in the October number of Boys' Life. "No doubt when any one of them came face to face with this enormous spider for the first time they did indeed experience quivers of horror. I have never known of any one being bitten by them, however, and naturalists declare that while their bite is painful it is not dangerous.

"When I was a child one of our favorite walks was down what was known to the villagers as 'The Bridge Road.' Here we might encounter many members of the tarantula family slowly crossing the sandy road moving in the direction of the river. I imagined then that they were going down to the brink of the stream for their evening drink as did our friendly cows. I suspect, however, that it was their hour of emerging to seek their prey. I have read nature articles in which the writer stated that they only emerged at night. This may be their favorite hour, I cannot say, never having seen them at night, but I do know that they come out frequently from five to six o'clock in the afternoon and I have seen them as early as three.

"They have no fondness for civilization and I have never heard of one being found in a house as are its relatives, the ordinary web-spinning spider. They are said to line their ground homes with webs.

"The species found in southern Europe and along the Mediterranean shores must differ from ours in the Gulf states. These are said not to exceed three-fourths of an inch in length and I have seen them here as large as a medium-size saucer. Too, I notice that they are pictured as elongated spiders while our native ones are more inclined to be round. The Texas species are black covered with very brown or black hairs. They are of a soft rich velvety appearance.

"I have often peered down into their holes in the ground and seen them watching just safely within. I have never known of their attacking anything for a battle except the tarantula killer. This enemy of theirs resembles a red wasp only being almost three times as large as the common species. You will notice one flying about above the top of the weeds and grasses much as a butterfly does. Then suddenly he will dart to the ground. In all probability he has located a tarantula or his hole. The tarantula sometimes puts up a battle but he is usually paralyzed with the tarantula killer's sting. Sometimes the tarantula killer will dart to the ground a number of times and then fly off as though waiting for something and you wonder if the tarantula put up the better fight or if he escaped. Later on, however, nine chances to one, you will see the tarantula killer dragging away his prey and you wonder how he will manage to arrive safely with such a large burden."

Observatory in Peru

SANTIAGO.—The South American station of Harvard University's observatory, tucked away in the Peruvian Andes near the city of Arequipa in the old Inca empire, boasts of the largest photographic apparatus in the world. It is a huge telescopic camera with a 24-inch lens, which has been of great aid to science in its observations of the southern skies.

The station was founded 30 years ago and is located near the base of the famous Andean volcano, Misti. The Arequipanian Indians, descendants of the Inca civilization, frequently speak of themselves as the sons and daughters of old Misti. It is said the Indians in the surrounding country still worship the mountain with much reverence, regarding it as the source of earthquakes which often are felt in the region. The volcano erupted seven years ago.

Superstitions in regard to the mountain date back to prehistoric times. The ruins of the ancient pagan temples, a writer says, have been found in the crater of the volcano and even today near the top may be seen a great iron cross, placed there in 1677, when a party of Spanish priests exorcised and pleaded with it not to erupt again and destroy their cities.

The clear atmosphere of the Arequipa region is said to have afforded an excellent site for an observing station.

Sierra Club Ginger Ale

AN ALL THE YEAR 'ROUND DRINK

A beverage that is as invigorating and stimulating in cold weather as it is refreshing on a hot day.

It's the purity of Sierra Club Ginger Ale that makes it so popular.

It's its flavor that makes it such a universal favorite summer and winter.

It's the favorite drink of many people because they know just how it's made and what it's made of. They know it's absolutely pure and harmless.

We make no secret of the way Sierra Club Ginger Ale and other beverages are made.

For a bottle of ginger ale we use 8 ounces of water put through processes that insure its absolute purity; and carbonated. We take an ounce and a half of the best cane sugar. We purify this further and never use any substitute for sweetening our beverages. The best quality of Jamaica ginger specially prepared, pure juices of the orange, lemon and lime scientifically blended give this Ginger Ale its "different" flavor.

We'll deliver a case to your home, 24 bottles for $2. The deposit of $1.35 which we require on case and bottles will be refunded when they are returned. Or if you prefer some other flavor, ask for Root Beer, Cherry, Orange, Lemon or Grape Punch.

SAFETY CAMPAIGN

ILLINOIS SECRETARY OF STATE URGES MOTORISTS TO OBEY LAWS

A campaign in the interest of safety on the highways has been begun by Secretary of State Louis L. Emmerson of Illinois, who, under the law, administers the automobile laws. Mr. Emmerson has issued a little pamphlet containing a digest of the safety first laws governing automobile drivers, and calling attention to the necessity for the strict observance to these laws if the highways are to be safe.

"Failure to observe the simple rules of the road results in the death or injury of scores of persons in Illinois every year," Mr. Emmerson says in the pamphlet. "These rules have been incorporated in the automobile and road laws of the state. Their observance is not only advisable for safety on the highways—it is enjoined by statute and penalties are provided for violation.

"Proper administration of the automobile laws is one of the first concerns of the secretary of state. Under authority of the law, he appoints annually several hundred men from various sections of the state to act as volunteer automobile investigators. These men, who serve without pay, are leading citizens in their community, interested in the safety of the highways.

"Much good has come from this source, but if accidents are to be avoided every driver of an automobile must familiarize himself with the laws of the road and strictly adhere to them.

"During the coming two or three months the highways will be used more extensively than at any time during the year. 'Safety First' should be the slogan of every driver and law violation should be reported promptly to the police authorities."

Secretary Emmerson points out that according to the interstate commerce commission there were 2270 automobile accidents at railroad grade crossings in 1918, with 1131 fatalities. During 1919 a total of 420 persons were killed in automobile accidents in Chicago.

No statistics are available for the rest of the state, but Secretary Emmerson is writing to coroners of the various counties in an effort to compile figures showing the necessity of greater caution.

Quite a Bottle at That

A white beaver hat, as worn in the coaching days, has for long been a feature of the windows of a celebrated Piccadilly hatter, and now the Fetter Lane tackle-maker exhibits a bottle.

It is not an ordinary bottle. It is black and bent and battered, and it bears this inscription:

"This bottle has been used for over 100 years in our workshop for varnishing fishing-rods. The bottle has that look. Even an inscription that varnish came from it for the wands of Izaak Walton, who lived not far off, would be convincing."—London Chronicle.

PROTECT HYDRANTS

RESTRICTED PARKING PLACE SHOULD BE CLEARLY SHOWN TO VISITING MOTORISTS

The present mode of protecting a city against the ravages of fire is to have fire hydrants located at the curb at convenient places throughout the city. It stands to reason that these hydrants should be left at all times out in the clear and that no obstructions be placed sufficiently near to them to keep a fire truck from having ready access to them. In the business portion of Glendale there is a scarcity of auto parking space, and owners of automobiles are very apt to park too close to the fire hydrants. As a precaution against parking too close to fire hydrants there is a state law governing the distance on either side of hydrants that automobiles may be parked. It is customary in most cities to have this restricted parking space marked very clearly on the face of the curbing with a heavy coat of colored paint, and usually the words "No Parking Here" painted across the space.

The hydrants in the city of Glendale have been protected in times past but only by a red bar each side of the hydrant which, of course, is understood by the citizens of Glendale who are familiar with such markings. However, the rains and natural wear have caused most of these signs to disappear and now there is no distinct marking on the curb showing the restricted space for parking near hydrants. The result is, strangers visiting our city in autos will unintentionally park a distance from the hydrant which they consider is safe, but when an actual measurement is taken it is probably several feet closer than the law permits. This transgression of the law gives the ambitious officer an opportunity to make an arrest and have a fine of $5 or more imposed upon the stranger who feels that the treatment he has received is unfair.

The suggestion that may be aptly made at this time is that the space on the curbing each side of fire hydrants be painted with a colored paint that will be easily distinguishable and the words "No Parking Here" be placed on a sign that may be easily noticed. It is to be understood that the city of Glendale is not eager to extract a few dollars from visitors but what she wishes to do is to keep the hydrants clear of any obstruction in case of fire. It is always a good plan to make it as easy as possible for people to obey the law. The average American citizen favors the enforcement of all just laws and is ready to co-operate with the officers whose duty it is to enforce the laws.

Congenial Occupations

WASHINGTON. — Reports from the government tuberculosis sanatoria of the United States Public Health Service to the Surgeon General just made public, demonstrate conclusively the great value of occupational therapy as an adjunct in the treatment of discharged and disabled soldiers. In fact, as carried out by the experienced reconstruction aides of the United States Public Health Service, occupational therapy, consisting of mental work and manual handicraft for curative and diversional purpose, promises much in the medical care and treatment of discharged and disabled soldiers now being cared for by this service.

Physicians in charge of tuberculosis sanatoria have often been discouraged by the failure of a large proportion of their patients to remain under treatment a sufficiently long period. Many of the patients, disregarding the advice of their physicians, leave within a month of their admission.

According to this report, out of 392 patients admitted to one sanatorium, 163 took occupational therapy and 129 did not. Of the former only two patients left the hospital against the advice of physicians in charge. On the other hand, of the 129 who did not take occupational therapy, eighty-three either deserted or left the hospital against the advice of the physicians in charge. This is less than 1 per cent among the former, as against 65 per cent among the latter class of patients.

"Occupational therapy," said Dr. Lavinder, who is in charge of the United States hospitals for the care of disabled soldiers, "is one of the latest developments in the modern care of patients. It is applicable to all kinds of conditions, and is given both for direct, curative action, for the improvement of function of muscles and joints, as well as for the marked effect in stabilizing the patient by increasing the morale. Our results with it have been excellent. Occupational therapy is not vocational training. In the hospitals of the United States Public Health Service occupational therapy is given to bed patients and those who are convalescing. When the patients have completely convalesced this form of therapy is succeeded by vocational training."

The Public Health Service operates the largest unit now engaged in occupational therapy and physiotherapy, over 300 expert aides, mostly women, being employed.

BRANCH LIBRARY

FIRST STORY HOUR OF YEAR ENJOYED—BOOKS PRESENTED BY MRS. MULLIKEN

The first story hour of the school season was held at the Branch Library Saturday, Oct. 2d, at 2 p. m. It was well attended and Miss Brown's stories were greatly enjoyed by the children. The room in which the stories are told will be reserved for this purpose every Saturday from 2 to 2:30 p. m.

Mrs. H. S. Mulliken who has been residing for some time at 120 West Laurel street presented the library with a finely mounted eagle which is very effective in its position over the books. Mrs. Mulliken also gave the library the following books:

"Blix" by Frank Norris, "Thurston of Orchard Valley" by Bindloss, "It Pays to Advertise" by Megrue and Hackett, "The Martial Adventures of Henry and Me" by Wm. Allen White, "The Stranger's Banquet" by Byrne, "Watchers of the Plains" by Cullum, "The Tinted Venus" by Anstey, "Bijli the Dancer" by Patton, "Under the Red Robe" by Weyman, "Sir Mortimer" by Mary Johnston, "A Pagan of the Alleghenies" by Marah Ellis Ryan, "Not All the King's Horses" by Chamberlain, "The Under-current" and "The Single Track" by Robert Grant, "Young Mistley" by Merriman, "Mr. Desmond, U. S. A." by Coulter. Non-fiction: "Dyke's Automobile and Gasoline Engine Encyclopedia," "Electric Light" by Urquhart, "Fables in Slang" by George Ade, "Galveston" by Halstead, a vivid description of the city and its great disaster; "Marching with Gomez" by Flint, a spirited description of Cuba at the time of its revolution in 1896; "Letters to an Unknown" by Prosper Mirimee, a familiar figure of the Court of Napoleon III. The following plays by Olive Tilford Dargan: "Semiramis," dealing with Ancient Assyria and the war with the Armenians, "Carlotta," dealing with the reign of Maximilian in Mexico, and "The Poet," dealing with Edgar A. Poe.

Some of these books will be on the table for inspection from Wednesday, October 13th, until 2:30 p. m., Friday, October 15th. At this time Mrs. Danford, from the main library, will give a book review at the Branch and will call attention to the new books. They can then be taken out or reservations made for them. This plan will be followed with the new books throughout the season, thus giving everyone a chance to see the new accessions before they go into circulation.

Philippine Schools

(Copyright, 1920, by Public Ledger Co.)

MANILA, Sept.—The total enenrollment in public schools of the Philippines at the end of the first month of the present school year was 884,646, a general increase in the attendance of approximately 11 per cent over the enrollment of last year. The total population of the islands is about 10,500,000; nearly one person in 10 is in the public schools.

The high school attendance is 17,346 where last year it was 15,712. There are 45 high schools in the islands; the enrollment in the Manila high school is 3,010. All these enrollment figures would be much larger if there were adequate facilities for accommodating all children who apply for admission to the schools, but although the government is devoting $15,000,000 over a period of five years to the construction of new school buildings and the purchase of school sites, its best efforts do not keep pace with the growing demand for public education.

You Work Alone

Strike and the world strikes with you, work and you work alone; our souls are ablaze with a Bolshevik craze, the wildest that ever was known. Groan and there'll be a chorus, smile and you make no hit; for we've grown long hair and we preach despair, and show you a daily fit. Spend and the gang will cheer you, save and you have no friend; for we throw our bucks to birds and ducks and borrow from all who'll lend. Knock, and you'll be a winner, boost and you'll be a frost; for the old sane ways of the pre-war days are now from the program lost. Strike and the world strikes with you, work and you work alone; for we'd rather yell and raise blue hell than strive for an honest bone. Rant and you are a leader, toil and you are a nut; 'twas a bitter day when we pulled away from the old-time work-day rut. Wait and there'll be a blow-up, watch and you'll see a slump, and the fads and crimes of these crazy times will go to the Nation's dump.—New York Sun.

It was a death-bed scene, but the director was not satisfied with the hero's acting.

"Oh," said the gentleman, "that is a native of Australia."

"Good hivins!" exclaimed Pat; "an' me sister married one of thim!"—Boston Transcript.

"Surely, Edward," she said, "you want to go to school with your big brother in the autumn."

"No, ma'am," said Edward; "I have decided not to go to school. I can't read, I can't write, and I can't sing. So what use should I be in school?"—Harper's Magazine.

A DREAM COME TRUE

For months the above was only a picture; the architect's drawing of his vision of a modern hospital; his dream of what the Glendale Research Hospital was going to be. But now the walls of the building have risen to a point where it is easy to see the completed structure taking form from the mass of cement, hollow tile and other materials that are on the ground.

THEY ARE COMING TO US

Less than one-fifth of the $100,000 capital stock remains to be subscribed and this is being taken up rapidly. They are coming to us with their money, now that we are making good every promise.

We have secured the services of Mr. E. H. Lemke as the superintendent of construction. He has had a valuable experience in hospital construction and when this building is completed we will have the best appointed hospital in Southern California.

A GLENDALE HOSPITAL FOR GLENDALE PEOPLE

This is a non-sectarian hospital, a Glendale institution in every respect. If you are interested in Glendale, you will be glad your home city has such an institution.

WHY NOT SEE US TODAY?

We have 150 families as stockholders which gives us a wonderful pulling power. You can pay for your stock by the month the same way you paid for your Liberty Bonds. Before many months you will thank us for giving you this opportunity to own some of this stock.

Why not see us today about getting in on this proposition before the sale of stock is closed?

Rainfall Record

There has been .06 of an inch of rain thus far in 1920 and it fell during Tractor Show week.

In 1919 there was rain on Sept. 27th, 28th, 29th and 30th, the total fall being 2.73 and there was no more until late in October.

In 1918 the record to Oct. 7th was 1.01 inches, the rains being on Sept. 14th and 26th and Oct. 4th.

In 1917 there was no rainfall up to Oct. 7th.

In 1916 the record to this date was 1.15 inches.

The Korean woman has not even a name. In childhood she receives a nickname, by which she is known in the family and by near friends, but, when she arrives at maturity it is employed only by her parents. To all others she is "the sister of" or "the daughter of" such a person. After her marriage her name is buried; she is absolutely nameless. If it happens that a woman has to appear in a law court, the judge gives her a special name for use while the case lasts, in order to save time and simplify matters.

"Oh, m'sieu—pensez-vous—er—er—que—er—la——"

"I am from the south of France, and find it difficult to understand the true Parisian accent."—London Blighty.

INTERNATIONAL ABUSE

An American college professor returning from a European tour says that in every foreign country he found the press "belaboring every other country."

"While we were in Italy," he says, "there was a temporary cessation in the abuse of America because France and England were special targets of criticism for the time being. In France we found the press busy with the British government and its Polish policy.

"The most discouraging feature of the tour was the discovery that each country was harboring so much ill will, hatred and suspicion of every other country in the world. This, in nine cases out of ten, seems to be due to misinformation and a lack of understanding of the problems of the other countries."

There is a certain relief in learning that the United States does not stand alone in this position. What many self-searching Americans have that of as a peculiarly American state of mind is found to be a matter of world psychology. It does seem, though, as if Americans of late have gone beyond all the rest in their narrow distrust of foreign nations.

It is easy for an American to see that this or that particular animus on the part of England against France, or Frange against England, or Italy against either, or almost any other nation against any other, is misguided and foolish. It is not so easy to see that the prevalent animus in this country against those whom we recently designated as "our noble allies" is just as foolish.

It is a commonplace conclusion of most persons who have seen much of humanity that people in general, individually, are pretty decent and square, and mean to do the right thing. Why cannot the same wise philosophy be applied to the nations that are made of such people?—Long Beach Telegram.

There are a great many small groups of trees bearing this high-class variety in the eastern part of town and housewives who refrained from canning many peaches earlier in the season on account of the high price of sugar, are taking advantage of the very moderate prices asked for the Salways, many of which are very large.

C. Caswell, proprietor of three meat markets in Glendale, who had the misfortune to lose a part of one finger in the sausage grinder a few days ago, is still unable to use the hand, having to carry it in a sling, but he is able to be around and look after his markets.

Prof. Cookman's Midget football team played a game with the first team of San Fernando High, Tuesday, at the latter city, and though their opponents averaged 10 pounds heavier all around the Midgets held them to a 13 score while they made 6, not a bad showing. A merry party of young people motored to Elizabeth Lake for the week-end. The trip was made last Saturday and camp made that night on the shore of the lake. Elizabeth Lake is at the edge of the desert and the road to this very beautiful spot is through the most wonderful scenery. A huge camp fire, with toasted marshmallows, wienies and a most delightful lunch were some of the pleasures of the trip. The party was made up of Misses Blossom Bussing and D. Vivian Wheeler, Ralph Goodman and Valmonte Kittle. Mrs. R. J. Smith was chaperone.

W. C. Raley, 125 South Cedar, leaves tomorrow morning for Indianapolis, where he will attend an Auditors' Convention; he expects to be away about three weeks.

John D. Cole, wife and the two little sons, Jack and Billy, have moved to Glendale from Pasadena, occupying Mrs. Barnett's property at 321 North Kenwood. One of the first things attended to by Mrs. Cole after getting settled in the new home was the ordering of the Evening News for a year.

Nurl Fish, who had his right shoulder broken while working on a big cattle ranch near Bakersfield, a few weeks ago, has been spending this week with his parents, Oma Fish and wife. He still has the shoulder bandaged and carries the arm in a sling, but is getting along very favorably and expects to go back to the ranch next week.

The population of all the states, as shown by the 1920 census, has been compiled, and the result for the forty-eight states is an increase of 13,710,842 since 1910, or 14 per cent making the population this year 105,683,108. The compilation for Alaska, Guam, Hawaii, Panama Canal Zone, Philippine Islands, Porto Rico, Samoa and St. Croix, St. John and St. Thomas Islands, has not yet been completed. These had a combined population in 1910 of 9,720,395. The 1920 figures will probably show a large increase, bringing the grand total up to not far from 120,000,000.

Pacific Ave. P.-T. A.

A meeting of the board of directors of the Pacific Ave. P.-T. A. was held at the home of the president, Mrs. P. O. Lucas, 358 Riverdale Drive, Thursday afternoon. It was a very profitable occasion, extensive plans for the year's work being discussed. After the business meeting, a social hour was enjoyed, and delightful refreshments were served. Those present were Mesdames W. E. Halstead, A. S. Chase, William Farlander, Mai Rosenberg, L. P. Tronsier, F. H. Waller, Pierson Hanning, Ross M. Russell, Casper Tuller, Chas. Rudel, Stanley M. Collum, Fanny O. Stone, Ray Phillipps and P. O. Lucas.

Street Names

There is considerable confusion over some of the street names in Glendale, partially owing to wrong lettering on the curbs. The latest map of the city also shows many errors, which will be corrected when the next issue is gotten out. It is Elk avenue, Maple street, Cypress avenue, Acacia avenue, Hillside Drive instead of Bena Way, Fairmont avenue, El Bonito instead of El Bonita avenue, Palm Drive instead of Ruth St., Sonora instead of Senora avenue, Sierra avenue instead of Scholl Canyon Road. And the spur street east of Verdugo Road that is named Eighth on the map should be Maple. The only Eighth street is in the Grand View District. There are two Park avenues on the map, one in the old Tropico section and the other in Casa Verdugo, extending west from Central avenue just south of Dryden. It is only two blocks long. It is San Fernando Road and Colorado street instead of boulevard, which would seem to be a better name.

Wireless Telephony

The human voice has been transmitted across the Atlantic Ocean almost daily by the invisible waves of wireless electricity. A remarkable series of experiments are being carried on at present by the Marconi experts at St. Johns, Newfoundland. Almost daily connections are established between this point and the station at Chelmsford, near London, a distance of over 2000 miles. So perfect are the arrangements that the voice of the expert in charge of the English stations has been recognized. Wireless operators aboard the S. S. Imperator picked up the same messages sent out from St. Johns when off the Irish Coast or fully 1500 miles out. The world is doubtless just entering a wonderful new era in the history of wireless transmission. One of the engineers active in these experiments confidently announces that in a year or two at most the public will be talking across the Atlantic and that the telephone rates will be cheaper than for similar distances over land.

Straw Vote

Mrs. E. D. Yard, president; Mr. C. Kimlin, vice president; Mrs. Eustace L. Young, secretary; Mrs. L. W. Sinclair, treasurer; Mrs. C. S. Archer, director.

Following the election of officers, T. W. Watson gave a short talk explaining the limitations of the city bureau and expressing his appreciation of the assistance given by the council.

We are asking as we have done in the past that cases needing relief be reported to the city hall where the worker in charge will send immediate assistance. These cases are recorded, thus avoiding any duplication.

The co-operation given the organizations in the past has been greatly appreciated and we hope in the year to come that we will have the support of the ones who have not affiliated.

MRS. EUSTACE L. YOUNG,
Secretary.

"I am sensible of the honor you do me, Mr. Johnson, in the proposal of marriage you have just made," said the haughty young lady, "but circumstances over which I have no control compel me to decline the honor."

"What are those circumstances?" demanded the young man.

"Your circumstances, Mr. Johnson."—New York Evening Post.

The Open Road

The old frontier has gone, never to return. Over westbound trails, where once the sweating mule teams of the emigrants plodded slowly along, high powered touring cars now poke their fastidious noses over high mountain passes that the weary pack mules of hardy trapper or prospector climbed with such difficulty, the ubiquitous "flivver" chugs cheerfully across the range. The last frontier is no more. The bad men of the cow towns and mining camps have doffed their "chaps" and donned overalls. They have put away their six-shooters and carry monkey wrenches instead. No longer does the talk concern mavericks and steers and roundups and outlaw horses, but rather spark plugs, cutouts, cylinder oil, and gas.

In the National Forests, which include much of the wildest mountain country of the West where the last frontier made its final stand, good roads are on the way, where they have not actually arrived, and their coming will make life easier for thousands of people in the little, isolated settlements which have heretofore been cut off from communication with the outside world.

Travel has always been slow and tedious in those mountains. When the Forest Service took over the administration of the National Forests in 1905, the biggest handicap with which it had to contend was the difficulty of getting around in the great areas that had been placed in its care. Many of the Forest boundaries extended down to the open country of the foothills; at places the settlements followed arable valleys back into the mountains. A few long-traveled roads picked their tortuous way through low passes across the ranges; occasional trails, blazed by stockmen or prospectors, led back to high range camps or lonely mining claims. Large sections of the Forest country had not been mapped, and much of it had been explored only by wandering trappers or prospectors, who had followed well-worn game trails, and left only an occasional blaze to mark the way they had gone. Except in the more sparsely timbered country, all travel off the well beaten ways was by foot or saddle horse, and communication between outlying settlements was slow and uncertain.

As a result of this difficulty of travel the whole work of the Forest Service was retarded. Because there were no roads or trails over which men and supplies could be transported to fight them, forest fires often burned unopposed for days, or even weeks, and destroyed millions of feet of timber. Administration of the Forest was rendered difficult because the rangers and other Forest officers often had to travel long distances over roundabout routes to attend to trivial routine matters. The high cost of packing supplies to crews at work in remote places on the Forests ate heavily into the available money, and the slowness and uncertainty of travel and communication were a never ending cause of delay and annoyance.

It required no master mind to decide that the opening up of ways of travel and communication was the prime essential for a successful, businesslike administration of the Forests. Construction of trails was one of the first activities inaugurated, and even with the limited funds available for the work, each year saw new projects gradually built up along important valleys and across high mountains into places that had never been trod by shod horses before.

It was soon realized, however, that trails are a makeshift which will serve only so long as the volume of traffic is relatively light. With the growth of business on the Forests, the rapid settlement of the agricultural lands, within and adjacent to them, the desire of the settlers for better living conditions, and the advent of the automobile there arose an insistent demand for roads to serve the needs of the Forests and of the nearby communities alike.

The plight of many of these little communities is far from enviable. Land hunger, the search for precious metals, the ever-present urge to push on into new country have led adventurous men and women to settle down in many an out-of-the-way place where they found the thing they sought. Content at first to put up with the inconvenience which their isolation forced upon them, these hardy pioneers and their descendants, as time has passed, have come to want the advantages which the outside world enjoys. They are no longer satisfied to live under primitive conditions. Roads over which to market the products of their farms and their mines are the first essential—roads of any sort, to begin with, but better and better roads to meet the increasing traffic as time goes on.

Distances, like everything else, are everlastingly big in the West. The cost of even plain dirt roads in easy country is sure to run high, and where construction is difficult, as it usually is, road building is an expensive undertaking. In most cases the counties in which the little, isolated communities are located are consequently hard up at best; and added to this is the fact that many of them have a large percentage of their area included in National Forests or other reservations on which no taxes can be levied. Not unnaturally, therefore, these counties look to the Government for assistance in the construction of the needed roads.

The justice of their claims was recognized and in order to compensate them for the loss of taxes on Government lands Congress provided that 25 per cent of all receipts from the National Forests should be returned to the counties. As a further help, provision was made that an additional 10 per cent of the receipts should be spent for roads and trails within the Forests and the funds from these sources proving inadequate to meet the constantly increasing need, $10,000,000, available at the rate of a million a year, was appropriated by section 8 of the Federal aid road act in 1916. Finally in February, 1919, section 8 of the Postoffice act made available $3,000,000 a year for the fiscal years 1919, 1920, and 1921.

With the money provided for road building there was no trouble in finding worthy projects upon which to spend it. Not only was there need for new roads into undeveloped territory, but also for repairs and relocation of existing roads, many of which had been used since pioneer days. There was so much work to be done that the decision as to which projects should be undertaken was not easy. Each community contended that its needs were paramount. Each advanced supposedly unanswerable reasons why its own project should be built without delay. Certain projects of obviously great importance were selected and considerable construction done from 1913 to 1916.

In the later year, when the money under section 8 of the Federal aid road act was made available, the necessity of taking a long look ahead to determine the ultimate road needs of the Forests became apparent. Steps were consequently taken to work out a plan of road development for each Forest which would look to the construction, in the order of their relative importance, of all the roads needed during the next 10 years. These plans have been completed and are brought up to date each year. Studies are made of each project, as shown by the development of the near-by communities.

In order to obtain the maximum results, co-operation on the part of the state or county is ordinarily required, but may be waived in exceptional cases. Such co-operation is usually made in money, but in many localities where ready cash is scarce the settlers often find it easier to give their work or that of their teams for a specified period.—John L. Cobbs, Jr., in U. S. Dept. of Agriculture Year Book.

Tires and Road Wear

Such important questions as how hard a heavy motor truck pounds a pavement when going at five miles an hour and at fifteen miles an hour are being answered by investigators for the bureau of public roads, United States Department of Agriculture, in a series of scientific experiments, which, when completed, promise to be of great value to highway engineers. Already sufficient tests have been made to show that increased speed of a vehicle equipped with hard rubber tires tremendously increases the impact which its wheels make on the roadway where there is any unevenness. On the other hand, where pneumatic tires are used, increased speed adds comparatively little to the impact. It has been suggested that these tests will be of great value, not only in settling questions of designs but may also lead to a rational basis for determining license fees for motor vehicles.

Recent tests were made with a three-ton truck of well-known make, loaded with a 4½-ton load, so that the total weight on each rear wheel was 7000 pounds, the unspring portion (that not supported by the springs) being 1700 pounds and the sprung portion (that portion supported by the springs) 5300 pounds. The truck was equipped first with an old solid tire that had been worn down to a thickness of one inch. Then, with exactly the same load on the truck, a wheel was used fitted with a new solid tire 2½ inches in thickness. And finally, the truck was equipped with pneumatic tires 42x9 inches and blown up to a pressure of 142 pounds per square inch. The tests show that as the vehicle's speed increased, the impact from the old hard rubber tire increased greatly. The impact from the new hard rubber tire was somewhat less.

A Little Doubtful

A traveling salesman died suddenly, and was taken to his home in the West.

His relatives telephoned to the nearest florist to make a wreath. The ribbon was to be extra wide, with the inscription, "Rest in Peace," on both sides, and if there was room, "We shall meet in Heaven."

The florist was away, and his new assistant handled the job. It was a startling floral piece which turned up at the funeral.

The ribbon was extra wide, and bore the inscription:

"Rest in Peace on Both Sides, and if there is Room We Shall Meet in Heaven."

To Make Christmas Gift

In an article on "Scout Gifts for Christmas" in Boys' Life for October, Armstrong Perry suggests the following game as a gift for a small brother or sister:

"Up on the closet shelf is that white pasteboard box you put there a long time ago, thinking it might come in handy some time. Cut out the top and the bottom and you have two squares of pasteboard 8 in. by 8 in. or larger.

"If the surfaces are dirty, clean them with a soft eraser, or paste clean squares of paper over them. Edge them with bright colored paper. Draw on each a sketch of a Christmas turkey—dressed or undressed. (Remember that the turkey is undressed when he is dressed.) Sign your name in a corner and add your tenderfoot, second class or first class badge.

"From the remaining portions of the box cut discs, square, round, or star shaped. Give each a different color with ink, water colors, oil paints, or colored pencils. Put pins through the centers.

"Now in an hour or so you have produced, at very small expense, two games which will be just the thing for little sister's Christmas party. The guests, blindfolded, will try to pin the discs on the portion of turkey they particularly want for dinner.

"Of course little sister will be exclaiming constantly, Oh, see what William made—he's a scout! But then, who cares!"

Professional Aviators

"In the early days of flying, even ten years ago, the earnings of a pilot were often very great. Thousands of dollars were paid for a single flight," says an article in Boys' Life for October. "As flying became more common and great numbers of men learned to fly these fees fell rapidly at home and abroad. The training of thousands of men to fly during the war tended to standardize the pay of aviators in all departments and reduce it to the level of other professions. Although the income of an air pilot has come down the element of danger has also been enormously reduced. In the days when pilots were paid thousands of dollars for an exhibition flight the death rate was very high, in fact few of the early flyers lived to enjoy their gains and reputation. Today on the other hand flying is practically as safe as automobiling or boating. It has been found in training men to fly that one death occurs for every 1600 hours spent in the air. In other words there is only one life lost for every 150,000 miles flown. The young man who goes into aviation therefore faces no greater danger than in many other professions.

"The army and navy offer many opportunities for everyone who wants to fly. In many cities, recruiting stations will be found where youths are urged to enlist. It is not necessary in this place to repeat the scale of pay offered in the service. Instruction in flying can be obtained in this way while the government at the same time supports the beginner and pays a small salary. The appropriation for aviation in both services at present is unfortunately very small, and the number of men is limited, but it is hoped that a wiser course will be adopted shortly."

"If Vermont were pressed out flat," says a new guide book from that state, "its area would equal that of Texas."

Perhaps. Convolutions have hitherto been highly regarded.

Suppose you iron out a man's highly convoluted brain.

Would it equal that of an elephant?

One last word on hymn jokes: In a homely chat on favorite hymns the son and heir said he liked that one best where the little Jew boy stole the old gentleman's watch! The hymnal index was useless here, and the reference took some searching for. Here it is, familiar to all:

The old man meek and mild,
The priest of Israel, slept;
His watch the Temple child.
The little Levite, kept.

CHIROS OPEN LETTER

TO "REGULAR" DOCTORS GIVES INTERESTING FACTS IN REGARD TO PROFESSION

A letter, explaining the work done by chiropractors; interesting facts concerning the profession, and reasons why "chiros" believe they should be allowed to practice, is being mailed today to the individual doctors of the city, who are members of the American Medical Association, according to officials of the State Chiropractic Society of California.

The letter follows:

"From a report published in the Medical Journal we note that the American Medical Association, California branch, has raised a fund of $50,000, to prevent the adoption of the chiropractic initiative measure which will be Number 5 on the ballot at the November election.

"We wish to call your attention to a few facts in this connection:

"First—That chiropractors are practicing their profession in every state in the union and have been doing so for many years because there is a public demand for chiropractic.

25 States Have Laws

"Second—That twenty-five states have already adopted laws for the purpose of examining, licensing and regulating chiropractors. Eighteen of these states have chiropractic examining boards such as the California Bill provides for.

"Third—That in all of these states where chiropractic laws have been adopted the citizens are protected against incompetence and there is a satisfactory tendency toward the standardization of the educational requirements.

"Fourth—That in states where there are no chiropractic laws, as in California, anyone may put out his shingle and impose himself upon the public in the name of chiropractic. We are certain that a number of people have done this thing in California, without having had any more training than some of our medical graybeards of today, who got their only medical education while driving some old-fashioned doctor's buggy for a time and then opening up offices of their own.

Fight Is Useless

"You and your associates are making a useless attempt to prevent the adoption of the chiropractic bill in California because chiropractic is here in response to a human need. If you want to kill the chiropractic profession there is but one way that you can do it, and that is to cure your patients.

"If you are sincere in your expressed desire to 'protect the public,' you should vote 'yes' on this measure, because it fixes an educational standard for chiropractors and brings them all under the regulation of a state board.

"Respectfully yours,
"STATE CHIROPRACTIC SOCIETY OF CALIFORNIA."

Filipino Farmers

There are 2,212,527 of the inhabitants of the Philippines who are engaged in farming as agriculturists and farm laborers, according to the compilation just completed at the census bureau.

Of this number 646,964 are women. In announcing this large figure of people actively engaged in cultivating the fertile soils of the Philippines, Director Villamor, of the bureau, declared that this is a solid proof that, contrary to the accusations of many, there is a considerably large portion of the islanders who are engaged in farming.

Considering the fact that the archipelago has a population of 10,500,000 those who are working in the farms constitute over one-fifth of the inhabitants.

Waste Wood

Utilization of waste wood through transformation by distillation into alcohol, acetate of lime, pyroligneous acid, oxalic acid, charcoal, and like products, is possible if a commercially successful process can be developed, according to authorities of the Division of Forestry of the University of California.

"Great quantities of slabs, edgings, ends, sawdust, and similar waste wood products are annually lost to the lumber industry because they cannot profitably be disposed of, it is declared.

Investigative work of the forestry experts at the State University looking towards a solution of these problems has been carried on for some time. In addition to this activity, investigators are planning to meet the needs of the lumber industry in finding proper methods of drying redwood, drying and handling native California hardwoods, mechanical and drying tests on sprout eucalyptus, and mechanical durability tests on second growth redwood.

The news of the entire world—fresh from the shrieking, whirling presses every day; the gripping feature stories; the big special departments have all done their share toward making the Los Angeles Examiner an immensely successful paper.—Adv.

FARM BUREAU DAY

GOVERNOR STEPHENS WILL DELIVER PRINCIPAL ADDRESS SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA FAIR

Farm Bureau Day at the Southern California Fair at Riverside this year will be Monday, October 18th. Through the courtesy of the Fair Association, guest tickets have been sent to all the Farm Bureau Directors of Southern California with the exception of Riverside county. These visitors are to be the luncheon guests of the Riverside County Farm Bureau. Each Farm Center will bring extra lunch to provide for the guests, so every family is asked to bring enough to feed one or two extra. Luncheon will be at 11:30.

Governor Stephens is going to be the guest of honor and principal speaker at this farmers' gathering. His one object in coming to Riverside is to address the farmers, and every farmer in Riverside county should avail himself of this opportunity of meeting our Chief State Executive. Dates previously made for the Governor have had to be changed, so he is going to some little trouble to be in Riverside on that day. Samuel Shortridge will also be present and will make a brief talk.

This is a real opportunity for the farmers, not only of Riverside county, but of all Southern California. While the Directors of the Centers throughout Southern California are coming as special guests, all the farmers are invited to be present and hear the speakers and take in all the features of Farm Bureau Day. Sherman Institute Band will furnish music during the lunch hour.

Aguinaldo's Faith

An American interviewer sought out Don Emilio Aguinaldo, once leader of the Philippine insurrectos against American forces, and asked him for his view on Philippine independence.

Aguinaldo said:

"I have kept the oath I made to the United States not to talk politics but now that the Americans are asking the views of the Filipinos, I will reply. Our people are happy, contented and more prosperous than they ever dreamed of becoming as a result of the American rule. The schools have taught them to think, and industries and commerce have shown them the rewards of work. Now we want the independence which was promised to us.

"The territorial form of government which the Americans in the islands, led by Senator George S. Fairchild, are advocating, does not satisfy the Filipinos, much as we appreciate the honor of becoming American citizens.

"Senator Fairchild has done much to help the prosperity of the islands and is a man whose opinions we respect. However, he has apparently forgotten that the American Congress decided that it would be impossible for the Philippines to become an American territory.

"The Filipinos are able to govern themselves and the country will be able to survive as an independent nation, though it is small compared with other nations. The recent war changed the world's ideas, and now it is considered right that the greater civilized nations should protect and encourage the smaller, newer and weaker countries."

Answering a suggestion that the behavior of nations since the war indicates as much desire as ever for aggrandizement at the expense of the weak, Aguinaldo added:

"I have faith in the world's civilization."

There is something fundamental about that that Americans as well as Filipinos should reflect on. To believe that things will work out well, that mankind is headed somewhere, and that our present society is playing a part in getting it there, requires a faith that contains the essence of a religion. All optimism indeed is a religion, based on faith.

The key to nine-tenths of our national actions will be found in our answer to the question whether we, like Aguinaldo, have faith in the world's civilization.—(Des Moines, Ia., Register, Sept. 3, 1920).

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 8.—Two dozen collars should last the average man a year. That's the opinion expressed in an announcement of the annual convention of the National Laundry Owners' association which is to meet in San Francisco next week. The laundrymen declare that there is a big waste in laundry—that people send collars and shirts and tablecloths and other things to the laundry which are only mussed and not really dirty. They add the charge that many a collar is thrown away as no good when just by a little turning over or something, it would do another month's service. So remember, everyone—have you bought your two dozen collars this year?

SAN FRANCISCO.—An extensive program of development work has been outlined to the state railway commission by the Southern California Edison company in asking that the commission certify that the work is necessary. The request to the commission is a preliminary step required by the state law. The program outlined as necessary to meet the demands which have been made on the company for electric energy, includes: Construction of a reservoir at Florence Lake and a second at Shaver Lake, Fresno county, with a conduit connecting the Florence Lake reservoir with the company's reservoir at Huntington Lake. Construction of a power house to be called Big Creek Power House No. 2-a at Shaver Lake. Construction of a second power house to be known as Big Creek Power House No. 8 to be located on Big Creek below the power house mentioned above.

LOS ANGELES. — The Granite Manufacturers' association of California, whose membership is comprised of tombstone makers and quarry owners, is holding its annual convention here today. Delegations from every city in the state are attending. Banquets and trips to movie studios and the beaches are included in the entertainment for the visitors.

The Lacertilian

The alligator is another good citizen whose usefulness is overlooked, for killing alligators has been from time immemorial a popular pastime.

In Louisiana it was found that when the alligators were killed off the muskrats multiplied and destroyed the levees; also the cottonmouth mocassin, the garfish and the carp increased wonderfully. Whereupon, protection was given to alligators.

This lacertilian—to give him his correct family name—has probably kept the muskrat away from the South Carolina coast, for the muskrat is unknown on the coast. If allowed to multiply, the alligator will make inroads on the carp, the garfish and the cotton-mouth, all undesirable members of our fauna.

The sum total of the alligator's evil-doing amounts to this: He catches a dog now and then; once in a long while pulls a hog or bites the tail off a cow, for sundry stump-tailed cows along the Atlantic Coast Line right of way have met misfortune in this way.

The cow, the dog and the hog are out of place when the alligator can get at them; but at best very little of this happens.—Charleston News and Courier.

SHALL THE JAPS GO?

Lothrop Stoddard in an eastern magazine takes up the cudgels for California.

One of the difficulties of the Jap situation is the fact that the east has taken little interest in the acute situation and has practically no knowledge of actual conditions and the Pacific coast viewpoint. The article in the October number of World's Work, one of the most influential magazines of its class, will go a long way to awaken interest along thte Atlantic coast.

The article points out that the present situation is an acute phase of a world problem concerning the relationship between the white and the yellow races. Lothrop Stoddard, the author of the article is an authority of this subject.

It traces the history of Japanese immigration and the so-called Gentlemen's Agreement as well as the California land bill of 1913 which almost precipitated war. It deals in detail with the little known Asiatic Barred Zone act of 1917 by which half a billion Asiatics of 12 Asiatic regions are barred from entry. The only Asiatic not included in this comprehensive law are the Japanese.

The conclusion is very definite for, in the words of the author, "The coast has made a good case. It has a right to be free from menace of Japanese Pacific penetration."

A GOOD TIME TO SAVE

It is a good time for saving, small as well as large. Money is appreciating in value. Those who invest it now in reliable securities will be sure not only of a fair interest return, but also of increased purchasing power for both interest and principal in the near future.

Havener and his famous concert band will play again at Verdugo Woodlands Sunday, October 10th, from 2:00 to 4:00 p. m. The concert last Sunday was a big success and was enjoyed by about 1,500 people. Plenty of free parking space will be available for automobiles and seats will be provided in the shade of the great oak trees. The Havener concert is given under the auspices of the F. P. Newport Company and is free to the public.

Finds Emblem in Apple

An apple under the skin of which a perfect Masonic emblem has been grown by nature, was picked up one morning recently by W. C. Wolfensperger in the yard of the William W. Bennett home on North Main street, at Rockford, Ill.

Mr. Wolfensperger had delivered a supply of milk at the Bennett home and helped himself to an apple which had fallen from a tree in the rear of the house.

Noticing a peculiar white spot on the fruit he examined it more closely and to his surprise and mystification he discovered the emblem mentioned. The trowel, square and compass were arranged absolutely as perfectly as in the Masonic design, and the "G" in the center could not have been inserted more accurately by hand.

IMPRESSIVE SERVICE

FUNERAL OF REV. W. H. WIEMAN IN TUJUNGA LARGELY ATTENDED

The funeral of Rev. Wm. Henry Wieman of Tujunga, killed in an auto accident last Sunday, was held yesterday afternoon in the community hall, and most most impressive. Every citizen of the little town and the surrounding community who was able attending to pay a last tribute to the memory of this much-loved man who has done so much in the last 14 years for the upbuilding of the town and neighborhood. Two ministers officiated and told of the great work accomplished by this good man. The schools were dismissed during the funeral ceremonies and the children, headed by their teachers, marched, with flags at half mast, past the casket and deposited thereon a beautiful cross of flowers. Dr. Buck sang two beautiful solos. At the close of this service the body was borne to Forest Lawn, where Rev. Kenyon Cogle conducted brief services. There was a very large attendance here, also. An impressive feature of the service in community hall, Tujunga, was the sight of the aged father of the deceased, now in his 101st year, moving slowly past the casket, supported by two of the six stalwart sons of the deceased.

Rev. Wieman was in his 65th year and was a native of Missouri. His wife, who had several ribs and a collar bone broken in the accident which cost her husband's life, was unable to attend the funeral, but was borne yesterday morning to the Pulliam & Kiefer Undertaking Co. parlors to take a last look at the features of the beloved dead.

Fine Fall Hunting

When the general game seasons open Saturday, October 16, for ducks and quail, Southern California seems certain to experience by far the greatest sporting season ever known, even in this land of new records in hunting and angling licenses sold every year, according to hunters.

Field patrolmen of the fish and game commission report an unusually good showing of quail in the washes and brushlands, while in many sections, rabbits appear to have made a very evident increase. This encouraging forecast for an unusually good shooting season is concurred in very generally by sportsmen who have been in position to experience the same conditions. Both as regards upland game, and as concerns ducks, the verdict appears very nearly unanimous.

Ducks have been piling into the marshy sections, both natural lakes and the artesian overflows of the preserved clubs, a steady influx having been in evidence for weeks. Deputies in all the Southern counties have made similar reports on the heavy ante-season flight of spring, not unusual in itself, but these fine fowl are staying around more generally than in some past seasons. The usual supply of feed is probably the correct explanation. Much barley was planted, and the late rains encouraged ranchers to let it go for grain. Difficulties about labor have delayed threshing considerably in some sections, and all the game birds bid fair to benefit by the "shattering out" of the barley, wheat, and other grains that could not be handled at exactly the right time from the farmer's point of view.

The monkey is a god in India.

Colorado St. P.-T. A.

The Colorado Street P.-T. A. held its first regular meeting Thursday afternoon at the school building, with a large and enthusiastic attendance. Mrs. Dotson, the new president, gave an interesting outline of plans for the ensuing year, and welcomed the new members. An instructive feature of the afternoon's program, was an address by Prof. R. D. White on "Patriotism" and amendment No. 16. Mrs. S. Mullen spoke for amendment No. 12 and asked the support of the association. Mrs. John Robert White, president of the Glendale Federation of P.-T. A. then gave an interesting talk on the coming year's work and asked the hearty co-operation of the audience. Margaret and Katherine Dotson, small daughters of the president, gave piano selections. Refreshments of tea and cake were served to the members and guests.

WHERE WILL THE VOTES OF WOMEN GO?

By far the finest tribute to the new voters of the nation that we have seen since Tennessee completed their enfranchisement came from Senator Frank B. Brandegee of Connecticut. His words ring with the courage and the sincerity that distinguish a statesman from a vote beggar and a senator in fact from a senatorial chair warmer. As soon as he heard the news from Tennessee the senior senator from Connecticut, replying to an inquiry from the Hartford Courant, said:

"Both political parties have been playing a game in the attempt to catch the woman vote. In my opinion they will both be fooled. The women will vote exactly as they please on the great issues before the country, as they ought to. They will align themselves between the parties according to their convictions, and the artful politicians who have been angling for their votes will be disappointed."

Women are apt to be much better judges of men than men are of one another. Judging men is one of the most important tasks associated with the exercise of sovereignty. What a candidate for office says is much more important than how he says it or where. It is the courage to speak with sincerity and truth his honest convictions that counts most among thte voters, be they men or women, who are striving to support the candidate for president, senator, congressman or state or county office who will best serve not the selfish desires of individual constituents but the unselfish aspirations for the common weal.

If Senator Brandegee were a candidate for re-election to the senate from Massachusetts the tribute paid by him to the intelligence of women voters would win him the support of many thousands of men and women who talk straight and think straight and rally to the leader who does likewise. Massachusetts and Connecticut are near neighbors and the rank and file of their people cherish the same ideals and value the same traits of character in the chosen leaders of their public life. So it is not surprising to hear that Senator Brandegee will be renominated without opposition. And of course that forecasts his re-election.—Boston Transcript.

Freight Cars by Magic

The railroads have been ordering many thousands of new freight cars. That is a good thing; there is a big shortage, due to the fact that for several years new cars have not been made as fast as the old ones wore out. But the railroads are doing a more excellent thing than that. These cars ordered are the usual ones, made of steel and wood. They are making many more by magic.

The method is simple. It was made plain at a meeting of railroad presidents and executives at Chicago last week. They decided to make a concerted effort to increase the average speed of freight cars to thirty miles a day, and to load thirty tons of freight on each car. Heretofore the highest rate of movement has been a fraction less than twenty-seven miles a day, and the highest loading between twenty-six and twenty-seven tons. These figures represent considerable gains in recent months. What it will mean if the roads attain the new mark they have set may be readily seen from the statement that every added mile per day in car movement is equivalent to adding 90,000 new freight cars, and every additional ton of freight put into a car is equivalent to 75,000 new cars.

Thus a rate of thirty miles an hour and thirty tons to a car would give the country more than half a million more freight cars. With such an increase in carrying capacity, the "transportation famine" would vanish like a bad dream.

This is the magic of industrial efficiency, which beats any "magic carpet" ever imagined for transportation purposes. And this is the sort of thing the nation expects from the industrial captains who are running the railroads. If they can work such magic, the public will not grudge them the attendant profits, for in the resulting prosperity there will be profit enough for everybody.

WEAK IN A VITAL SPOT

The educational system of the United States is confronted by a more serious situation than that of any of the other leading nations of the world. This is the statement of Philander Claxton, federal commissioner of education.

The school year opens with a lack of accommodations for 3,000,000 pupils and a shortage of 75,000 elementary and 15,000 high school instructors. From one-third to two-fifths of the teachers employed lack adequate preparation. While salary conditions have been bettered here and there, the majority of schedules are too low. Housing for teachers is far from sufficient in most localities.

Great Britain provides a subsidy so that teachers can live while learning, and has increased all salaries 30 per cent. France has built her first new school houses in her devastated districts and increased all salaries 75 to 100 per cent. Even Germany, Grazil and Argentina all salaries 75 to 100 per cent. Even Germany, Brazil and Argentina than the United States.

Again, the school children of this great country must limp through a year under conditions menacing to scholarship, citizenship and health. Again the nation has relegated the interests of its children to the background while it fought for progress along lines not half so vital nor so promising. It may be too late to set matters right for this year, but it is not too early to begin constructive plans for another year, and these must be made and continuously enlarged if coming Americans are to hold their own with the offspring of other nations—Long Beach Telegram.

and on motion was referred to the milk inspector.

A letter was read from Edwards & Wildey Co., in regard to the proposed opening of Commercial street stating that as owners of property affected by the proposed improvement the writers were interested in having the matter settled as soon as possible. The communication was ordered to be filed.

The matter of the application of Dr. Fareed for a permit to establish a rest home on Hillside Drive was taken up. In this connection Dr. Fareed being present, presented letters indorsing his project from Dr. H. C. Smith of the Glendale Physicians Club and from Dr. J. E. Eckles, health officer. A letter was also read from Dr. Henry R. Harrower favoring the application of Dr. Fareed. In this connection also a protest was filed by residents of Verdugo Canyon against the establishment of any rest home or sanitarium of any kind or nature whatsoever in the Verdugo Woodlands, signed by the F. P. Newport Company and nineteen other property owners of the district. Dr. Harrower, Mr. Fell, and others addressed the board on the subject. A motion made by Trustee Henry was adopted, all voting "Aye," that the application of Dr. A. Fareed for the maintenance of a rest home in Verdugo Canyon be granted on condition that no mental cases or cases of a contagious or tubercular nature be allowed.

The city manager presented a report in regard to the removal of trees from parkways recommending that the following applications for such removal be granted: Mrs. J. A. Daniels, W. F. Bradley, W. W. Hunt, W. F. Britten and Roberta T. Young. He further recommended that the applications of Mrs. Butterly and Mrs. W. E. Wilber be denied. On motion of Trustee Bartlett the recommendations of the city manager in regard to the removal of trees were approved and action ordered accordingly.

The city manager recommended the cancellation of charges for water and electricity as set forth on vouchers Nos. 731 and 776 and on motion the recommendation of the city manager was approved and the cancellations ordered to be made.

The city manager recommended that the city clerk be instructed to advertise for bids for brass goods and on motion it was so ordered.

The city manager recommended the appointment as police officers to serve as patrolmen, the following: C. Blix, W. B. Hutchinson, I. J. Herbert and H. W. Hollenbeck. On motion of Trustee Robinson the recommendation of the city manager was approved and adopted.

The city manager made a report in regard to bidding for the installation of three street lights in the Casa Verdugo district and on motion of Trustee Bartlett the City Manager was directed to bid on the same and the City Treasurer authorized to furnish the necessary certified check to accompany the bid. This motion was as follows:

Ayes: Bartlett, Robinson, Shaw.
Noes: Henry.
Absent: Stephenson.

The City Manager reported having met with the Trustees of the City of Burbank who desired the city authorities of Glendale to consider the advisability of joining with Burbank in the use of certain lands for sewage disposal which have recently been acquired by the former city. On motion of Trustee Henry the matter was referred to special Engineer F. H. Olmstead to confer with the Trustees of the City of Burbank and report to the Board.

The City Treasurer requested that he be granted a vacation of three weeks beginning October 10th. On motion the request was granted.

The Engineer of the Public Service Department recommended that the City Clerk advertise for bids to be opened October 21, 1920, for the following equipment:

Two deep well pumps and two vertical electric motors. Also for a sixteen-inch well casing, starter and shoe and for drilling and perforating one sixteen-inch well. On motion of Trustee Henry the recommendation was approved and the City Clerk instructed to advertise in accordance with the same.

Trustee Bartlett presented an ordinance calling a special election for a Board of Freeholders to be held the 15th day of November, 1920, and the same was read and laid over for one week.

Trustee Bartlett offered a resolution which was adopted as Resolution No. 1125; a Resolution of the Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale determining that the public interest and necessity demand the acquisition by said city of the following municipal improvements, to-wit: The acquisition, construction, and completion of public gymnasiums, museums and baths including the necessary furnishing, improvement, and equipment for the same.

Trustee Henry presented an ordinance which was read and laid over granting the Midway Gas Company a franchise to construct a pipe line. The City Clerk presented the bond of the Midway Gas Company given in connection with that company's bid for a franchise which was on motion accepted and ordered to be filed.

Trustee Bartlett reported that the San Antonio Library Association is to meet in the City of Glendale and recommended that the sum of $25.00 be appropriated from the Advertising and Commercial Fund to assist in the entertainment of the visitors on that occasion. It was so ordered.

Trustee Bartlett made a suggestion that a committee be appointed by the chair for the purpose of promoting the proposed $100,000 bond issue for a City Amusement Center. On motion of Trustee Robinson the appointment of this committee was ordered and the Chairman appointed Messrs. C. D. Lusby, A. D. Pearce and W. R. Phelon as such committee.

Demands were referred to the Finance Committee and on motion of Trustee Robinson were approved and warrants ordered to be issued in payment of same.

A communication was read from the Woods Beekman Lumber Company in regard to the establishment of bunkers in the Verdugo Wash and the same was referred to the City Manager.

City Marshal Lampert

When City Marshal Lampert was granted a four months' leave of absence in addition to his regular two weeks' vacation last June, it was the understanding that he was to resume his duties on his return if he so wished. Now that he is back he has been invited by the Trustees and the City Manager to again take up the work and will comply. Mr. Lampert's work on the police force has always been very satisfactory.

Cabled Photographs

Photographs have been successfully cabled across the Atlantic. The first pictures actually transmitted were probably those taken in New York of the recent international yacht race and reproduced a few hours later in a London newspaper. There are several methods of transmitting photographs by wire and even by wireless electricity, but the system followed in cabling the yacht pictures is probably the best. The negative containing the photograph is "coded," or prepared for transmission by an ingenious device which reduces the picture to an arrangement of messages which resemble an ordinary cable code and can be transmitted as such. This message can be handed into a telegraph office for transmission like any other message. On being received on the other side of the Atlantic this message is placed in a machine resembling an ordinary typewriter and is in turn reproduced by a series of holes in a long tape. The tape is then placed in the reproducing machine with an undeveloped plate and after being transmitted the plate is placed in a developing bath which reproduces the original picture in every detail. Some details are lost in the sending, but it is promised that the machine will soon be perfected and a long distance transmission of photographs will be a commonplace.

Rubber on Farm

The amazing extent to which rubber enters into the application of power on the farm was strikingly revealed by the mechanical rubber goods exhibit of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., of California, at the National Tractor Show at Verdugo Woodlands, and also at the recent State Fair at Sacramento.

Klingtite belting for tractors, gasoline hose, steam hose, hose for spray rig, packing for gas engines, packing for cold water and steam, suction hose and automobile radiator connections are among the standard rubber products made by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company which were on exhibit at the big power farming exposition, and many power users familiar with the company's standards of manufacture as applied to tires and tire accessories took advantage of the opportunity to inspect the complete line of mechanical goods put out by the big California tire company.

An exhibit of unique value at the State Fair was the power conservation exhibit of the California Electrical and Mechanical Engineering Company, a Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company mechanical goods service station at Sacramento, which demonstrated the correct use of belting in operating pumps, cream separators, washing machines and other farm machinery by power.

The exhibit not only showed this famous brand of belting being used to transmit power to various farm labor saving devices, but furnished detailed information to farmers on lacing belts properly, figuring pulley speeds and sizes, arranging pulleys for the proper form of drive, lining up hangers for shafting, and the correct care of belts.

One of the oddities of the State Fair was the freak performance of an Avery Yellow Fellow thresher, which made hamburger of all the scrap bricks and lumber that could be fed into it during the two weeks of the fair, thereby demonstrating the strength and enduring qualities of its "insides." A 150-foot 8-inch 5-ply Klingtite endless farm field belt made by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company was used to transmit power from an Avery tractor to the thresher.

THE BLAMEWORTHY PEDESTRIAN

The New York police commissioner says that 78 per cent of all street accidents are due to the carelessness of the pedestrian. Commenting on this, another authority says that if a measurable degree of contributory negligence is meant, rather than full responsibility on the part of the pedestrian, that figure can be raised to 99 per cent.

The tendency in these days is to blame the operator of the vehicle involved when a street accideut occurs, whether it be a street car moving on its appointed track or an automobile at large on the thoroughfare. So prevalent is this custom that frequently rank injustice occurrs in the award of damages to the injured.

It is true that there must be rigid restrictions governing the operation of all vehicles of whatever type. This serves to secure the safety of the public so far as the vehicles are concerned. But saving the pedestrian from the street car or the motor car is no more necessary than saving him from himself.

Too many persons in walking throw all the responsibility for the avoidance of accident upon the man at the wheel. They loiter on the crossing or dash blithely about with no regard for traffic regulations or the rulings of ordinary common sense. More education along this line would result in a noticeable reduction of the accident percentage.

THE USEFUL VOLCANO

The scarcity of coal is stimulating the search for other sources of heat and power. Much has been heard of "white coal" or the ingenious use of water power. In Italy they have hit upon another plan which promises to revolutionize the industry of the country. There are several places in Italy where the internal heat of the earth comes so near the surface that it may be tapped.

In other words, the volcanoes are being harnessed to supply power. The tests already carried on are reported to have proved very successful and the work will doubtless be greatly extended. The heat thus drawn from the earth is converted into electric energy which is transmitted for great distances and employed to run railroads and operate mills. There is practically an inexhaustible supply of heat or power and it is believed that the pressing coal problem of Italy will eventually be solved.
